CASA DE ARTE · HOTEL

PRIVATE TOUR

One of three Luis Barragán houses, then tacos.

We choose one: Casa Barragán, Casa Gilardi or Casa Pedregal. A guide who knows Barragán's work tells the history of the house and lingers on the coloured walls, the courtyards and the fountains.

Casa Barragán, in Tacubaya, was his home and studio from 1948 to 1988. UNESCO named it a World Heritage site in 2004. Casa Gilardi (1975 to 1977), in San Miguel Chapultepec, has an indoor pool beside a pink wall. Casa Pedregal stands in the Pedregal de San Ángel, in the south of the city, on volcanic ground.

Afterwards we eat at a traditional taquería where Barragán used to go.
