PRIVATE TOUR

A Sunday of legends and flavours in the Historic Centre.

We start by bicycle along Paseo de la Reforma, closed to cars on Sundays. From there we ride into the Historic Centre, where a guide tells the city's legends outside the Metropolitan Cathedral, the Palacio de Bellas Artes and the Templo Mayor.

Breakfast is pan dulce with nata and hot chocolate at El Cardenal. The Diego Rivera Mural Museum, in the Alameda Central, holds Sueño de una tarde dominical en la Alameda Central, rescued after the 1985 earthquake. La Catrina, José Guadalupe Posada and Frida Kahlo all appear in the mural.

We finish with a mezcal tasting at Cantina La Ópera and a stop at Dulcería Celaya, the oldest candy shop in Mexico City.
